More Arrests .- A proper degree of vigilance on the part of loyal citizens will scon weed out the entire crop of secessionists from our State, and we are pleased to see that the work goes bravely on. The Maysville Eagle tells us, that, on Monday morning last, there came strolling into accent, who immediately sought and closeted noon of that day he walked to Mayslick, and, as now? at Fairview, hunted up the leading secessionists and continued in consultation with them until 10 o'clock at night. On Tuesday morning he went on the Mayslick omnibus to Maysville, and as the officers had received intimations from loyal men at Mayslick and Fairview of his suspicious con duct, they carefully watched him, and observed that he walked and rode about the city, carefully inspecting its location and noting the houses of noted secessionists and went to their houses and nati, whereby sharpshooters may, with accuracy, places of business. In conversation with several determine the relative distance of a man, from one persons whom he took to be secessionists he said hundred to one thousand yards. that the Union men of this part of the State little dreamed of the danger they were in and let fall intimations that he was certain that Eastern Kentucky would be under rebel control in a short time. On Wednesday morning he had been drinking a little and was off his guard, and said to several gentlemen that he had had cattle dealings with Hibler, of Paris; that Hibler had shot a soldier who attempted to arrest him while on his way to the Southera Confederacy and that he would have done the same thing. This conduct induced Lieutenant Bullock, of the 16th Kentucky, to arrest him, which was done just as he was leaving on the Brooksville omnibus. He resisted at first and attempted to draw his pistol, but being prevented from using it he submitted for a few moments, but then attempted to escape. He refused to give any account of himself, but cursed Colonel Metcalfe, annouced his intention to fight him if they ever met, and said he was ready to fight any Metcalfe man; becoming still more excited he declared that there would be an uprising in Eastern Kentucky in less than three weeks and the Union men would be driven from the country, and Maysville especially would "see sights." He was then taken to the Bostona, and was there recognized by a Federal officer who had served in Western Virginia as a rebel

The Eagle describes this man as quite intelligent—a dangerous fellow and full of fight. Bayond a doubt he was travelling in the interest of the rebellion, and his guarded movements had something to do with the concerted rebel movements in Northern Kentucky. But it seems to us that the arrest of this emissary should be promptly followed up by the reivence of all two sols, who continued to lacco.

The question of tobacco, notwithstanding the assertions of certain journals, is well worth a voyage to Richmond. If this question has not up to this time occupied the public attention it is because it only directly interests the Government. Nevertheless it has a real importance, for the Government draws from tobacco a revenue of nearly two hundred millions of francs.

seen by the editor of the Commonwealth, gives the names of the persons carried off by the robbers and murderers in that section. They were Samuel H. Hurst and his son William Hurst, John W. Hazlerigg, and Joel W. Gordon, from West Liberty. These are as respectable men as any in that county, and their only offence is that they are Union men. They carried off with these men sixteen others from Hazelgreen and vicinity. They also broke into a store there and robbed it of its contents. They stole, moreover, eighteen horses from the neighborhood. This is bad enough, but in addition to this they have murdered James Barnet, of Breathitt county; James Frisby, of Morgan county; and others whose names are not mentioned. The writer says that if speedy relief is not sent all the Union men will have to leave their homes, and be driven out of the country. The Commonwealth says he is a man whose statements may be geria. relied upon. Until recently these bandits have relied upon. Until recently these bandits have contented themselves with horse stealing and robbery, but now they are growing bolder and are adding murder to robbery. We hear of their outrages through Bath, Montgomery, Floyd, which never changes.

Attached to the mill were two large stables, which contained four horses and a mule colt. The mill and stables were burned to the ground, and three of the horses and the mule colt arished in the flames; the horse which escaped vas so badly burned as to be valueless. Mr. Walker's entire crop of wheat of last year was in sacks ready to be sent to Maysville, his corn in the granaries, as were also his rye, oats, saddles, harness, agricultural implements, and his wool ready for the factory; all were burned. Mr. Walker is certain that this was done by guerillas in rovenge

PARSON BROWNLOW AT FORT WARREN .- On Saturday morning Parson Brownlow and his friends from Tennessee, accompanied by Governor Andrew and Staff, Adjutant General Schouler, Assistant Adjutant General Brown, and other officials, went down to Fort Warren by steamer. For the last thirty years England has annually bought from America some 30,000 boucauts, from which she draws, through customs, dues, &c., 100,000,000 of france; and France has bought about 20,000, boucauts, which gives her a revenue of 80,000,000 of frances.

all over the world. Hayti, Bolivia, Ecnador, Greece, and Egypt are the only countries which have never had it in demand. An important deficit in the supply of tobacco would cause grave embarrassments to all the governments of Europe, but more especially to those of England, France, and Holland. And it is to be feared that this deficit may be fatally produced

The tobacco planters of the United States have The tobacco planters of the United States have resolved to burn the crop of last year, to prevent it from falling into the hands of the Federals, and the present crop will be almost insignificant. The most fartile districts of Virginia are at this moment overrun and devastated by immense armies, and the majority of the slaves are in flight; while in the districts far removed from that the content of the slaves are in the content of the slaves are in the content of the slaves are in the slaves flight; while in the districts far removed from the theatre of war, the planters have neglected tobacco to sow wheat and corn. The Virginia crop will be reduced from eighty thousand to eight thousand boucauts. The same result will follow in Kentucky and Tennessee.

An inexorable fatality seems to have followed tobacco in this crisis. During two consecutive years the crop has almost completely failed in Brazil, and in the Island of Cuba the plant was suddenly struck with a disease last year, which, suddenly struck with a disease last year, which, added to a diseastrous drouth, greatly reduced the crop. During the year 1861 there have been exported from Havana 1,977,892 pounds of leaf testaco, and 50,119,000 cigars less than in the year 1860. The Havana journals fear that the reduction will not be less than ten times more considerable.

We translate the following condensed summary from his letter:

The average for the eight years included since 1854 is considerably higher, possibly owing to higher prices for wine, as wel ly twice as great for some time past, and we may fairly call the average annual product since 1854, $540, which would be equal to tobacco of Pas-de-Calais and the Lower Knies.

Souff is made by an admixture of Virginia and Kentucky tobacco, and of the leaves grown in the departments of the North, Lot, Lot-et-Garonne, and in Ille-et-Vilaine. Chewing tobacco is generally either pure Virginia or Kentucky.

Havana tobacco, so much appreciated, is only fit for the manufacture of cigars.

It is thus seen how important is the role which is assigned to the tobacco which comes from the United States.

Since 1854, $340, which would be equal to $200 per acre as the proprietor's share alone! The writer asserts that the profits of the virgeron are at least as great as those of the proprietor, and more than intimates that there is room for them to be very much larger. YOUNG MEN, TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE. Dr. H. devotes much of his time to the treatment those cases caused by a secret habit which rains bot body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual festiter business or society. The sad effect of these earl habits, or the excess of riper years, are to weaken and debilitate the constitution, destroy the physical an meutal powers, diminish and enfeeble the natural fee ings, and exhaust the vital energies of manhood: the pleasures of life are marred, the object of marrial functrated, and existence itself rendered a term of measing misory and regret. Such persons, especiall those contemplating marriage, should lose no time is making immediate application, as Dr. H., by his ne treatment, is enabled to insure a speedy and permaner zure.

Patients living at a distance can be cured at home bending a description of their disease and enclosing stamp.

SUPPLYING REBELS WITH POWDER. - The Cincinnati Commercial says that, during the past few weeks, larger quantities of gunpowder have been shipped over the Kentucky Central railroad than during the 'errible month of preparation in the early history of the rebellion, and the wonder is that it is allowed to go on unchecked. The surveyor of customs at Covington has grown alarmed at the increased shipments of this article, and has very properly refused to allow any more to pass through without permits from the Custom House, Cincinnati. The description of powder shipped, is that used for blasting, but that is the same which is used for cannon, and there can be but little doubt that the little indicates the course forces us to incur, and create a sinkvidual shipments of from two to six kegs go to swell the aggregate now large in rebel portions of the State. One fact is significant, and that is, that all the recent shipments have been to well known rebel sympathisers in the interior, while staunch Union men find no trade for the article, probably because rebels would hardly

Judge Price was seized with remorse at the enermity of the deed, he had committed, and besought the dying man's forgiveness, declaring that he was not conscious of what he was doing. It was truly a melancholy seized with remorse at the enermity of the deed of what he was doing. It was truly a melancholy and affecting scene, in which the unfortunate perpetrator of the rash act seemed to suffer more than his victim. Judge Price has always been regarded as a young gentleman of high standing, and it is thought he was incapable of such a deed when in possession of his proper faculties. TION OF THE CITY. By the steamer Matanzas at New York from New Orleans papers to the 20th ult. inclusive have been received. From the Evening Post we take the following: The True Delta publishes the following letter from Rost to Yancey, with the remark that it is given "at the desire and request of Major General Butler":

"Hotel d'Ynglaterra, Madrid, March 22, 1862.

"Hon. Wm. L. Yancey, Richmond: "My DEAR SIR: Trusting that you have ere his reached the new field of your labors, I avail nyself of the departure of the Cadiz steamer to t you hear from us and our doings.
"For some time after Mr. Slidell's arrival in Paris the weather was extremely cold, and my wife being in feeble health, I delayed my deparwife being in feeble health, I delayed my departure until the 18 h of February. I stopped on my way at Bordeaux, at the request of Captain Huse, to see about getting some of his freight on board of a steamer loading in that port, and then went in the neighborhood to see one of my sisters, who had been seriously ill. There my wife fell sick, and after a few days, I parted from her on my way to Marsoilles, where I took the French steamer of Thouvenel, that Spain would not act alone on the American question. When you left, we did not expect that our Government would be recognized, but we bad a well-founded hope that the blockade would be set aside. You will, no doubt, have seen that the declaration of Earl Russell, that it could not be considered ineffective, had been sustained in Parliament, and that a similar declaration of the French minister had also been carried in the Chamber of Daputies by a large mejority. This destroys the last hope we had that those Governments would do justice between the belliger-

"Coupled with the declaration that the block-"Coupled with the declaration that the block ade was not ineffective, Estl Russell made the statement, unsupported by any reason, that he trusted that by the first of June, or even before, the civil war would be ended. After reading in the President's inaugural that the war would probably continue a series of years, I am forced to conclude that the Earl gives faith to the assurance of Mr. Sawgraf, that three months after the necessity. of Mr. Seward, that three months after the peo-ole of the Confederate States had become con-rinced that they had nothing to hope from Engand or France the rebellion would end.

"The last news of our reverses, exaggerated as as they have been by the Northern press, has done great injury to our cause. When the people hear of fifteen thousand men, strongly fortified, routed and made prisoners by an equal number of assailants, they begin to doubt the bravery of Southern troops and their nitimate success. Can son not Semmes, Conrad, Perkins, Kenn r, and Marshall, and believe me, truly your friend,

Trade is beginning to revive in New Orleans. Under the head of "A Lesson of the Time," the

Picayune counsels the people to practice economy, and help the poor, and in another article thus discusses the present posture of affairs:

"Under existing circumstances, we do not know that a better arrangement could have been made between those who have had confided to them the task and the duty of administering the nunicipal government of our city and that power to which the chances of war have consigned the military rule here, than that which has been come to between them. It was a matter in which, point of fact, there was hardly an alternative,

A gradual change seems to have come over the spirit of the New Orleans journalists. From day to day the leading articles grow milder, and "United States domination" is regarded in the latest papers we have received as a thing which is not so very terrible after all. For instance,

"The city authorities having pledged them-selves in bohalf of our citizens for the safety of the officers and soldiers of the United States army when moving through our streets, and that ou people would refrain from molesting or insulting them, General Butler has also signified his inten tion to remove his men, with the exception of a guard, to the environs of the city. We think we may promise, on behalf of the people of New Orleans, that they will redeem the pledge thus given by the Mayor and Council."

And the Picayune of the 20th has this editorial "We cannot too often or too earnestly insist on "We cannot too often or too earnestly insist on the recommendation to all our storekeepers and other butiness men to reopen their stores and shops, and other places of business. It cannot be long before the course of trade will begin to seek its old channels, and to give renewed employment to those whe pursue it, and great relief to thousands who are suffering from its suspension.

"Another beneficial result that will flow from this course will be the removal from our streets of crowds of idlers, who now give the city so much crowds of idlers, who now give the city so much the appearance of a disorderly and ill-regulated

BATTLE AT RUSSELL'S HOUSE. REPORT OF GEN. SHERMAN. HEADQUARTERS FIFTH DIVISION, ARMY OF THE TENNESSEE,
CAMP BEFORE CORINTH, May 19, 1862 ent Geo. E. Flint, Assistant Adjutant General,

Chief of Gen. Thomas's Staff:

Chief of Gen. Thomas's Staly:

Sir: I have the honor to report that in compliance with the purpose of Mej Gen. Halleck, as explained at the interview of the 16th inst., Gen. Thomas being present, I made all possible inquiry as to the topography of the ground in my front, with its water courses, fields, and roads, and on the 17th made dispositions to drive the enemy from his position at Russell's House.

I requested Gen. Hurlbut to put in motion two regiments and a battery of artillery at 3 P. M., on the road which passes the front of his line and on the road which passes the front of his line and runs to Russell's house. I ordered Gen. Denver to take a right hand road with two regiments of his brigade and a battery of light artillery, viz: the 70th and 72d Ohio and Barrett's battery, and gave him a guide, so to conduct his march as to arrive on the left of the enemy's position by the time he was engaged in front; and I ordered Gen. Morgan L. Smith's brigade with Bouton battery to follow the main road, drive back brigade of the enemy's forces that held the posi-tion at Russell's with their skirmishers and pick-ets down to the causeway and bridge across a small stream, about eight hundred yards this side of Russell's house, supposed to be a branch All these forces were put in motion at 3 P.M. Gen. Denver's forces taking the right hand road, and Gen. Smith's the direct main road. On reaching the causeway Gen. Smith deployed his skirmishers forward, and sent out his advance guard. The column advanced and the skirmishers became engaged at once. The firing was very brisk, but the enemy's pickets were driven steadily back till they reached the position of their Brigade, at Russell's house, where their resistance was obstinate. The ground was unfavorable to artillery till the skirmishers had cleared the hill beyond the causeway, when Msjir Taylor, Chief'of Artillery, advanced first one of Bouton's guns, and very soon after the remaining three guns of the battery. These, upon reaching the hill top, commenced firing at Russell's house and outhouses, in which the enemy had taken shelter, when their full force retreated, and full possession nishers forward, and sent out his advance guard. when their full force retreated, and full possess was obtained of Russell's house, and the ground for three hundred yards in advance, where the roads meet. This was the limit to which I had ordered the brigade to go, and then it was halted The head of Gen. Denver's column reached it The head of Gen. Denver's column reached its position as the enemy was beginning to retreat. General Morgan L. Smith conducted the advance of his brigade handsomely, and the chief work and loss fell upon his two leading regiments. The Eighth Missouri and Fifty-fifth Illinois. I leave to hin the full credit of conducting the advance, and of c rrying the position at Russell's. He held the ground till about daylight the next morning, when by my order, he left a strong pickat there and placed his brigade back a short distance, in easy support, where it remained till relieved by another brigade.

From Russell's we could hear distinctly the drums beating in Corintb. The house ir nearly two miles from the enemy's outer intrenchments; and miles from the enemy's outer intrenchments; and the position, though important, is too exposed for a single brigade, with our lines disposed as at present. General Hurlbut has two companies at Russell's, and two regiments along the edge of a seld which lies to the east of Russell's house. This house is now the advance picket station in our front, and I have a chain of sentinels round by the right to a point on the Purdy and Corinth oad, where it j has on to the pickets of Gen. Mc-Clernand. There was no loss sustained by Gen-ral Hurlbut or Denver's commands, in their lank movement on Russell's, but the loss in Gen-

The following despatch was received at the War Department this evening: FIELD OF BATTLE, June 1-12 M. We have had a desperate battle, in which the corps of Gens. Summer, Heintzleman, and Keys were engaged against greatly superior numbers Yesterday at one o'clock the enemy, taking advantage of the terrible storm which flooded the valley of the Chickahominy, attacked our right flank. Gen. Casoy's division, which was in the front line, gave way unaccountably. This caused temporary confusion, during which the guns and baggage were lost. But Heintzleman and Kearney most gallantly brought up their troops, which c'e ked the enemy, and at the game time I succeeded by great exertion in bringing across Gens. ceeded by great exertion in bringing across Gens. Sedgwick's and Richardson's divisions, who drove back the enemy at the point of the bayonet, covering the ground with his dead. Major General Commanding.

Norfolk, May 30

Two fugi ives arrived here yesterday direct from Richmond. They report an army of 200,000 men in the vicinity, among whom both officers and men show very general dissatis/accion. They were living on hair rations of bac n and hard bread. The fugitives state that Jeff Davis hid been heard to say that he would make the streets of the city run with blood before surrendering.

Col. Hawkins, of the 9th New York regiment, with twenty men arrived here in the Port Royal last night, having left Roanoke island yesterday morning and passed up by way of Curicoa sound and thence by canal to Elizabeth river. Thus the inland route is open by which General Burnside's department may communicate with the capital without risk of the passage outside of Hatteras sound. Sloops and schooners flying the American risg have already come through and been allowed to proceed to Baltimore.

By special invitation of the officers of the British war-steamer Rinaldo, General Viele, military Governor of this city, paid a visit to that vessel yesterday. He was received with the greatest kindness and courtesy and with the honors of a salute of 17 guns and the manning of the yards. The American ensign was displayed at the fore.

The Rinaldo left this morning and will proceed to sea.

The oath of allegiance has been administered to nearly 2,000 citizens. They offer themselves in large numbers every day to take it voluntarily. If the sentiment of the proposed meeting should be satisfactory te Gen. Wool it would probably induce the President to open the port.

A report comes in from our scouts who are advanced some miles beyond Suffolk, that the city of Petersburg is to be or has been evacuated by the rebels.

The All We knew him as a son; and his devotion to his aged parents—devoting himself to making them happy and giving them day by day reason to thank God for giving them such a child—was so marked as to be almost a proverb in the social circle of his immediate friends. We knew him as a brother, and we know that his brothers and his sisters almost idolized him—they blessed bim in their hearts. We knew him as a friend, and we know that his generous nature has often relieved the wants of others less fortunate than himself—sharing his purse with them with a cheerfulness moved, it will be removed under the military authority to a place where it can be burned without destroying the city.

To the Editors of the Louisville Journal: CLARKSVILLE, Tenn., May 23, 1862.

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn., May 23, 1862.

Gentlemen: About a year ago an attempt was made to exclude from Clarksville the Louisville Journal. This was done because the conspirators feared its influence and trembled before its bold denunciations. Their first effort was to induce the subscribers to discontinue the Journal and lose their subscription. To what extent this tyrannical interference with the rights of individuals succeeded, I do not know. I am not aware that it was successful in a single casa. You can tell. I am informed that an effort was then made to induce the city authorities to declare your sheet a nuisance, and exclude it from the town upon that ground. But the city fathers dared not do the deed. Still a demonstration must be made against the Journal, and the next resort was the Vigilance Committee, with D. N. Kennedy at its head. This sapient body notified the newsboys that no more Journals were to be offered for sale in the streets of Clarksville. The boys obeyed of course, and the sale of the Journal was stopped. Not long after this the mails were stopped, and no more Journals were seen in this part of Dixie, unless they were smuggled in, till after the fall of Fort Doselson. Soon after that event, came the Louisville Journal, sought for as eagerly as ever by friends and foes, and, if this had been the end of the matter, I should never have troubled ever by filends and loss, and, it can have been defined by the matter, I should never have troubled you with this letter.

But our rights are still interfered with. What southwardly. Some ladies and several citizens remain here.

The citizens inform us that Richmond is evacuated, and Memphis almost wholly deserted, all the stores, with the exception of a few groceries, being closed. It is ascertained that Van Drin had a band of Indians under him. Col. Jackson reports inding the road for several miles strewn with knapsacke, havercacks, arms, and cantesers, showing great demoralization.

The woods are full of stragglers, who are being brought in as fast as possible, probably between two or three thousand. Almost the entire Louisians regiment is within our lines now from desertions and recent captures. The Federal telegraph line was completed to this point to-night.

INDIANAFCLIS, May 30.

The President has called on the States for 50,000 men for three months, to be raised by the Adjutant-off General, calling for five thousand men to rendezvous in this city. Companies of eighty-three men will be immediately ordered into camp, clothed, armed, and equipped.

WASHINGTON, May 31.

The following despatch was received at the War Department this merning:

The enemy's position and works in front of Corinth were exceedingly strong, Ha cannot now be done opped, the seaching way. KENTUCKY HARVESTER

COMBINED REAPER AND MOWER.

GREATLY IMPROVED FOR 1862.

THE KENTUCKY BROAD GAUGE REAPER

(Cuts a Swath 7 feet wide). THIS Machine is only tntended for Resping, and was introduced by us in 1860, and is a complete success. The finger-bar and angle-bar are made of wrought iron. It is designed for the use of very large grain growers, and se capable of cutting from 15 to 20 acres of any kind of grain per day with ease. This Reaper will cut 26 inches high, and has all the modern improvement, such as raising or lowering the cutters and throwing them in and out of gear when in motion. It is the most complete, durable, and efficient Resping Machine ever made. when in motion. It is the mass complete, durant, and emicent Reaping another ever made.

S125 Cash.

We also make a CHEAP REAPING MACHINE, with wood entire bar and wood frame supporting the raker, platform, and reel, which cuts 7 feet wide and 26 inches high.

THE KENTUCKY CLIPPER

First—It has two independent driving-wheels, both drivers (yet with but one set of gear). The wheels are each coupled to the shaft by a pawl and ratchet, so that in backing the machine is out of gear, yet when moving f rward nay be thrown in or out of gear at pleasure.

Second—The entter-bar is fointed or hinged, so as readily to adjust itself to uneven surfaces, and is easily raised you means of a lever, to pass over obstructions. It may also be raised and folded over in rear of the frame. It is made of the best cast steel, thin, but rigid and strong. The fingers are all made of wrought iron, and the cutting the state of the second and the cutting the second are steel. frace laid with cast steel.

Third—The en'ire machine, with the exception of the tonge, is made of iron and steel, yet very light, weighing 0 pounds. Width of swath four feet.

Genllemen: I have tried your Kentucky Clipper in the same field with a "Buckeye," cutting clover. The ground was very rough, and consequently neither machine could cut very close; but there was a vast difference between the cut of the Buckeye and the cut of the Clipper. The Clipper's work was at least twenty-five per cent. the best. The Buckeye can cut a little more than the Clipper for two reasons, viz: It can all the theoretical the team is compelled to walk faster to make it cut at all; but, while I was in the field with the Clipper, I cut the most, for the Buckeye was detained for repairs, and this is the great difficulty with the Buckeye—It are occurrenced that it must shatter to pieces in two seasons. I am prifectly estimated I would rather have the Clipper at the same price. I do not think the draft of the Clipper is much more than half that of the Buckeye.
